Diversity: The Changing Face of our Community

By Kimberly Barwich

Burnaby is one of the most diverse communities in the lower mainland. We have the benefit in our community to be surrounded by variety of ethnicities and countries of origin; of ages and abilities; of orientations and culture – all of which bring a richness of experience to Burnaby. With difference, however, can sometimes come misunderstanding and from misunderstanding, conflict. Much is required from all who live here to broaden their understanding, awareness and openness to make Burnaby a welcoming and inclusive community.

South Burnaby Neighbourhood House, through exciting initiatives such as Diversity Training, Anti-racism arts initiative and BWIN (Building Welcoming and Inclusive Neighbourhoods) is working together with neighbours to address these issues and make Burnaby the best possible place to live and work.

As part of a broader Burnaby Intercultural Planning Table (BIPT) project funded by provincial government, community members are being trained to lead diversity workshops for fellow residents. Youth, newcomers and long-term residents will participate in train the trainer sessions and prepare to lead workshops in community venues such as seniors centers, youth centers, daycares, or PAC committees. The same format is being applied to seniors and with the support of New Horizons funding, SBNH will also train a team of seniors as diversity workshop facilitators. These presentations will broaden community members' understanding of Burnaby's Diversity and give participants a new perspective on their neighbourhood. In the spring, SBNH hosted two community gatherings (also funded by the provincial government and in partnership with the (BIPT) that brought together a diverse group of people to participate in an arts-based exploration of diversity and racism. Through music, drama, drawing and story telling, people shared their understanding of communities without racism. After these events, a small group of residents gathered to use this information to create an idea for an anti-racism mural. Watch the Marlborough Daycare building for this exciting mural to begin taking shape in late June and the launch of the mural scheduled at a summer barbeque on July 25th.

The BWIN project has been very successful in providing opportunities for long term residents and immigrants to work together on committees and provide programs and events that welcome everyone. This has included volunteer opportunities, sharing of culture dinners, summer barbeques and newcomer dinners. Through the combined efforts of these projects and the promotion of community engagement, SBNH is successfully creating intercultural bridges for a healthy community while creating a sense of belonging for all our neighbours. Together, we all have a role in creating a welcoming and inclusive community. If you would like to be involved in an existing program or have an idea to make Burnaby a better place to live, please call us at the Neighbourhood House.

We are From

(Poem Compiled by Susan Montabello at the SBNH Diversity Art Engagement Project)

We are from...
freedom to play and wander
singing out to others...
come play with us this evening
open fields, fresh cut hay wind whistling through the trees
heavy rain on our roof
waking early to the crowing of the cock tip toeing through the dew on the grass
Wake up and start your life with kindness and love.

We are from...
Generosity and helping others smile, world will smile with you pick the best from every culture

let deeds not words be your adorning love is all that counts education is important Work hard to get ahead
Take the best learn the rest
Grateful for family,
Love, laughter
We are the fruits of one tree and the leaves of one branch.

We are from...
people with the biggest hearts
sharing food with our neighbours roast beef and cherries.. Sunday evening dinner with family tumreic on eggplant, sizzling in the pan smells of fresh bread..
pungent aromas still alive.. rising through my nostrils
hugging our grandchildren... happiness grandmothers showering us with love villages of togetherness.

Volunteers are an inspiration!

We were so blessed to have a group of dedicated volunteers this tax season who did an excellent job at helping community residents with filing taxes. It was a privilege to have these volunteers at the Neighbourhood House serve our clients. They truly made a difference in the lives of so many of our residents. Thank you for your time, energy, and generosity. We truly appreciate your dedication and effort.
